Area students are the winners with Bright Ideas Teacher Grants

Palmetto Electric Trust and Palmetto Electric Cooperative awarded $44,907 to winning teachers and their team members through the fifteenth annual Bright Ideas grant program. The prize team visited classrooms and awarded grants on Monday, October 29, Tuesday, October 30 and Wednesday, October 31.

Earlier this year, teachers from southern Beaufort, Jasper and Hampton counties submitted proposals for innovative classroom projects. A total of 95 grant applications, totaling over $85,657, were received. "This year we are excited to award 50 grants to benefit more than 9,000 students in our three county service area," said Berl Davis, president and CEO of Palmetto Electric Cooperative.

The Cooperative's Bright Ideas Prize Team surprised the winning teachers and presented the money where it will be used – in the classrooms. Representatives from the Cooperative and the Trust greeted teachers with balloons, gift bags and their checks at each school. Later this month, the cooperative will host a luncheon at Palmetto Electric's New River facility to honor the recipients and their administrators.

The Bright Ideas program was created in 2004 as a way to benefit local school teachers in grades K-12. These grants give teachers the money required to put their innovative classroom projects into action. Since the program’s inception, area teachers have received over $510,256 in grants.

Palmetto Electric Trust is supported by funds from Operation Round Up®, a program in which the Cooperative’s members round their electric bill up to the nearest whole dollar. The program is a true example of how small change...changes lives. Additional funding was provided by Palmetto Electric’s Million Dollar Hole-In-One Shootout and WIRE (Women Involved in Rural Electrification) Chapters.
